NIKKA YOICHI NO AGE

Single Malt Japanese Whisky

Full-bodied whisky with fruity aromas and subtle peaty and smoky notes coming from the traditional method of direct coal-fired distillation as well as a salty hint brought by the sea breeze during the aging process. Yoichi Single Malt is Kosher Certified.

Tasting notes

About the Yoichi Distillery Founded in 1934 by Masataka Taketsuru, a Japanese businessman who travelled to Scotland to study Chemistry and had the opportunity to learn the art of Master blending, becoming the first Japanese to produce whisky at the time. The Yoichi distillery produces rich, peaty and bold malts. Getting its distinct aroma and body directly from heating distillation, in which the pot stills are heated with fine powdered natural coal according to traditional methods.
