

HAZELBURN 2003 | 13 YEARS

Oloroso | Campbeltown Single Malt Whisky

Hazelburn was distilled in October 2003 and bottled in March 2017. The release comprised 12,000 bottles. Rich, warming and notably different from the lighter bourbon-matured Hazelburn character. MATURATION: The unpeated spirit was distilled three times and matured for 13 years in first-fill and refill Oloroso sherry casks. It was bottled at 47.1% volume, non-chill-filtered, natural colour. SUGGESTIONS: Serve neat in a tulip glass, with water alongside. A few drops of water open the candied orange and walnut layers. A rich, contemplative whisky for the after-dinner hour: pairs well with milk chocolate, a soft caramel dessert or a mild-to-medium strength cigar where the sherry depth has a natural counterpart.

Tasting notes

Color

A copper hue.

Aroma

Honey cake, raisins and dates.

Taste

A rich texture, with honey, dried fruit and vanilla.

Finish

Medium to long, gradually drier, with vanilla and soft toffee.

SPRINGBANK DISTILLERY Hazelburn is one of three signatures produced at Springbank Distillery in Campbeltown, on the Kintyre peninsula. Springbank Distillery, founded in 1828, remains in the hands of the Mitchell family (J&A Mitchell & Co.), making it one of the very few Scottish distilleries still entirely family-owned. It is also one of the rare producers to carry out every stage of production on site: floor malting, distillation and bottling and produces three distinctly different whiskies: Springbank (lightly peated, 2.5-times distilled), Longrow (peated, double-distilled) and Hazelburn (unpeated, triple-distilled).