

SAMAROLI ARDENISTLE

Blended Malt Whisky | 2022 Release

Samaroli Ardenistle is composed of an assemblage of young whiskies, two Caol Ila and two Islands. The combination is inspired by an old blend originally made for Anacleto Bleve, father of Samaroli's Master Blender Antonio Bleve

Tasting notes

Taste

Despite its young age, this whisky has pleasant balsamic notes followed by intense aromas of oregano, sesame and marjoram. The iodine component is naturally persistent, but it does not hinder the spirit's tempo and dimension.

Finish

Yeast-rich grain in the finish.

About Independent Bottler Samaroli: Samaroli is probably Italy's most renowned independent bottler, considered a visionary by most. Impeccable taste and an eye for aesthetics have given numerous of his bottlings a worthy place in the pantheon of whisky and rum giants. Today the production is under Antonio Bleve's direction, who has collaborated with Samaroli for many years and shares the passion and philosophy of the house. Antonio Bleve continues his quest for exceptional casks, relying on the brand's historical relationships and new interactions, making their latest bottlings increasingly in demand.
