Tasting notes

Aroma

A warm nose with aromas of popping grains, wet hay, ripe fruit and resin

Taste

Wood and time have balanced the flavours. Notes of fruit, syrup and bread straight out of the oven invade the palate on the first sip.

About Independent Bottler Samaroli: Samaroli is probably Italy's most renowned independent bottler, considered a visionary by most. Impeccable taste and an eye for aesthetics have given numerous of his bottlings a worthy place in the pantheon of whisky and rum giants. Today the production is under Antonio Bleve's direction, who has collaborated with Samaroli for many years and shares the passion and philosophy of the house. Antonio Bleve continues his quest for exceptional casks, relying on the brand's historical relationships and new interactions, making their latest bottlings increasingly in demand.
