

SAMAROLI DEMERARA DARK RUM 1988

2021 Release | Cask # 1 | 33 Years

Discover an exceptional, limited-edition rum for true connoisseurs: a single-cask dark molasses rum, distilled in 1988 and bottled in Scotland in 2021. This rum comes from Guyana, where centuries of distillation methods converge to create remarkable depth and variety. Samaroli Demerara Dark Rum is aged over 33 years, capturing layers of flavour and complexity, making it an exceptional addition to any fine spirits collection. With only 195 bottles available, this rare gem offers a unique opportunity for collectors and enthusiasts!

Tasting notes

Taste

Vanilla, sugar cane, leather and tobacco.

About Independent Bottler Samaroli Samaroli is an independent bottler of rare rums and whiskies from around the world. The company was founded by Silvano Samaroli in 1968, who at the time was the only non-British or non-Scottish person in the trade. His passion, knowledge and experience of almost 50 years of individually selecting the best casks allowed him to expose the complexity of each of the spirits, maintaining their harmonious balance and outstanding taste. The maturation is carried out in Scotland, where the climate (cooler than in the Caribbean) enables longer ageing and consequently cleaner more elegant rums. Every bottle is numbered and dated. The company is led today by Antonio W. Blevé who after a long time of collaboration and love for the company's philosophy, has continued to deliver outstanding unique releases of single cask whiskies and rums.