

HIGHLAND PARK 1988 / 30 YO

Samaroli Perfection | Cask No.820 | 2018 Release

The experience of this single malt shows how in the distant corners of the world, there is still a determination to create something truly outstanding to satisfy one's own ego. Something to be remembered for tomorrow, while going unnoticed today. This single malt single cask whisky was bottled in Scotland in November 2018, a very limited edition of only 287 numbered bottles.

Tasting notes

Color

Golden-brown

Aroma

Typical Highland Park profile with honey, heather flowers, camphor, lemon balm and removed smoke.

Taste

A cocktail of flowers and iodine are followed by an intriguing bouquet of heather and pressed powder with salty notes and seaweed.

Finish

Long lasting with bitter notes of tea, herbs and a lightly calcareous and earthy note. About Independent Bottler Samaroli: Samaroli is probably Italy's most renowned independent bottler, considered a visionary by most. Impeccable taste and an eye for aesthetics have given numerous of his bottlings a worthy place in the pantheon of whisky and rum giants. Today the production is under Antonio Blevé's direction, who has collaborated with Samaroli for many years and shares the passion and philosophy of the house. Antonio Blevé continues his quest for exceptional casks, relying on the brand's historical relationships and new interactions, making their latest bottlings increasingly in demand.
