

LADYBURN 42 YEARS OLD

Single Malt Scotch Whisky

An absolute rarity by William Grant and Sons, this Ladyburn bottling comes from the house's exclusive reserve of long-matured whiskies. This exclusive bottling offers a distinctive taste experience. Its extraordinary flavour profile is dominated by aromas of wood, leather, linseed oil & dried orange. Each bottle comes in a luxurious wooden box with a signed certificate of authenticity.

Tasting notes

Aroma

Rich and full aroma with hints of linseed oil, liquorice and leather. Subtle vanilla and oak notes overlay the malty character.

Taste

Full and plump with a velvety texture. Rich notes of stewed fruits, green leaves and antique leather.

Finish

Long and slightly dry

The Ladyburn ... a Ghost Distillery The Ladyburn distillery no longer exists, it operated between 1966 to 1975 and was demolished in 1976. After Ladyburn's single malts production ceased in 1975, independent bottlers Signatory Vintage, as well as Wilson and Morgan, released some single malts under the "Ayrshire" label. William Grant & Sons have kept some casks of Ladyburn maturing in their warehouses. Once these ancient reserves of Ladyburn are gone they cannot be replaced.
